JACKSON COUNTY

The following list is considered as those days for which holiday rates of wages for work performed apply: New Years Day, Memorial/Decoration Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, Veterans Day, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Day. Generally, any of these holidays which fall on a Sunday is celebrated on the following Monday. This then makes work performed on that Monday payable at the appropriate overtime rate for holiday pay. Common practice in a given local may alter certain days of celebration such as the day after Thanksgiving for Veterans Day. If in doubt, please check with IDOL.

Resolution to Support Designation of Three New Illinois Wilderness Areas

Whereas:

- The southernmost tip of Illinois is very geologically diverse, containing 5 physiographic regions in the area of the state south of Carbondale.
- The Shawnee Forest is very biologically diverse, with some areas having more biological diversity than any other area in North America.
- Our national forests and other natural public lands are the last remaining areas providing habitat for many species, including many rare, threatened, and endangered species.
- Burke Branch proposed wilderness area (6,230 acres):
 - is the only wilderness area - established or proposed - in Illinois that is in the Cretaceous Hills physiographic region of the Coastal Plain Division.
 - was recommended to be included in the Illinois Wilderness Act by the Illinois Department of Natural Resources in 1978 and 1983.
 - contains 2 natural areas, one Research Natural Area, and one Illinois State Nature Preserve (a total of about 805 acres of designated natural area), which need undisturbed buffer areas to ensure the continued long-term survival of these high quality areas.
 - contains the last known mesic barren known to exist in North America, and a rare acid seep springs with related plant community, and contains 23 different habitats for plants and animals.
- Camp Hutchins proposed wilderness area (2,967 acres):
 - is in the Ozark Hills physiographic region and contains an impressive multi-aged old growth forest with a network of high ridges and steep ravines, with numerous sheltered valleys that have been relatively undisturbed by humans, and with outstanding examples of mixed mesophytic forest.
 - is adjacent to Clear Springs Wilderness, Bald Knob Wilderness, Hutchins Creek proposed wild and scenic river, and LaRue Pine Hills National Ecological Area, and would fill in the missing piece to a large block of high quality, unfragmented closed canopy forest, providing much-needed habitat for forest interior species - a nationally significant area, said by biologists to be the most biologically diverse area in North America.
- Ripple Hollow proposed wilderness area (3,530 acres):
 - is in the Ozark Hills region and is an area with old growth forest communities and 21 habitat types in relatively undisturbed condition, with a wide diversity of wildlife
 - contains seventeen surveyed prehistoric sites and may have many more.
 - contains old growth forest communities, with deep ravines containing a branching stream system - a very scenic and biologically diverse area.
- Present and proposed wilderness areas in Shawnee Forest would comprise only 14% of the present 277,000 acres of the forest.

- Shawnee National Forest is the second smallest forest in the nation, and is very fragmented, causing it to be a death trap for forest interior neo-tropical migrating birds due to cowbird parasitism and forest edge predators, highlighting the need for more large protected areas of closed, uninterrupted forest canopy, such as the three proposed wilderness areas
- The noise and chaos of our everyday world becomes more extreme with our increasing population, making quiet natural areas where people can go to be renewed even more precious.
- Logging, mining, and oil and gas drilling often destroy the natural ecology, disrupt the wildlife, and render areas unsuitable for recreation in our forests for many years.
- Motorized vehicles quickly destroy plant and animal life, as well as the sought-after peace and quiet of the forest.
- Illinois is 49th out of the 50 states in the remaining acreage of near presettlement condition lands, with only about .07% (seven ten thousandths) remaining.
- Illinois has saved only 2% of its land as public natural lands.
- All three proposed Illinois wilderness areas - Burke Branch, Camp Hutchins, and Ripple Hollow - are imminently threatened by degradation from logging, mining and motorized vehicles.

Resolved: that the Jackson County Board strongly supports the national wilderness designation for the areas known as Burke Branch (6,230 acres), Ripple Hollow (3,530 acres), and Camp Hutchins (2,967 acres) in the Shawnee National Forest.

RESOLUTION NO. 2009 - 27

RESOLUTION SUPPORTING THE RE-AUTHORIZATION
OF THE WORKFORCE INVESTMENT ACT (WIA)
AND CONTINUINANCE OF THE PROVEN SYSTEM OF A LOCALLY
CONTROLLED, GOVERNMENT AND BUSINESS LED SERVICE DELIVERY
SYSTEM

WHEREAS, the Workforce Investment Act (WIA) is a proven and effective tool for the development of a skilled and competent workforce; and,

WHEREAS, for this system to remain effective, it must be re-authorized with local government and the local business community remaining as the intermediary for job seekers to become skilled workers for business in key sectors of the economy; and,

WHEREAS, local control must remain a requirement for these programs as Local Workforce Boards, appointed by local government, reflect the economic composition and the growth industries of the area and provide policies, program designs and initiatives; and,

WHEREAS, during these difficult economic times these needs of our community are at an historic high; now,

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the County Board of Jackson County that we strongly urge our Illinois Congressional Delegation to support re-authorization of the Workforce Investment Act, to provide increased funding for the WIA program, and to support the principles of local control and those principles outlined in the "WIA Works Illinois" checklist (attached).

Adopted this 9th day of December, 2009 by the Jackson County Board at it's regular monthly meeting.

John Evans, Chairman
Jackson County Board

ILLINOIS' 2010 REAUTHORIZATION: CHECKLIST

The Workforce Investment Act reauthorization will occur under your watch in 2010. The Illinois WIA Network can be used as a national model for innovation and delivery of service. We ask that you work to strengthen the system and legislate room for local innovation because WIA Works.

The 2010 WIA legislation should have these components:

Maintain Unique Roles

- WIA program administrators as the catalyst for community colleges and other providers to achieve outcome based training.
- WIA program administrators as the agent for job seekers to become skilled workers for key business sectors
- WIA program administrators as the vehicle for businesses to continue upgrading the skills of their employees
- Wagner-Peyser/Employment Services (Title 3) provides the labor exchange function for WIA program administrators to place job seekers in demand occupations

Local Boards Consisting of Private Sector Members with a Stake in the Outcome

- Allow flexibility to reflect the size and the principles of the area
- Allow local boards to make spending and program decisions based on the unique needs and opportunities of the communities
- Strategic investments are central to the focus of the Board's work and they must remain in their capacity as system-wide decision makers

Ability to Provide Good Jobs for Everyone

- Encourage life-long learning for job seekers so they have access to services that build a successful career pathway
- All means "All" whether dislocated, disadvantaged or employed.
- Create a separate allocation for a designated Summer Youth Employment Program

ILLINOIS' 2010 REAUTHORIZATION: CHECKLIST

Standards of Accountability Across the System

- Measures must be consistent across all federally funded partner programs
- Measures should be meaningful, i.e. "how many jobs"; what are the wages; how many completed training, etc.
- Measures should be based on changing local market information and demographics
- Measures should encourage service to individuals with significant barriers to employment

Base training and educational strategies on Career Pathway Models

- Strategies should include sector partnerships that utilize existing services and infrastructure provided through WIA program administrators
- Skilled workforce needs should be identified and addressed within targeted industries or sectors
- Maximize established linkages between WIA program administrators and education, labor, business, etc. to encourage innovation

Capacity for Training

- Training must suit the needs of the constituents
 - Contractual models should include incumbent worker and class size training
 - Blending of programs should be allowed to accelerate learning and assist students in gaining the skills and credentials required for higher paying jobs

Eligibility Documentation

- Documentation should be consistent and transferable across partner programs. For example,

Re: Resolution to Extend Existence of Jackson Co. Enterprise Zone

Attached to this cover note is a draft copy of a resolution ordering the county clerk to abate real estate taxes for eligible projects in the Jackson County-Carbondale-Murphysboro Enterprise Zone. The Board will remember it adopted ordinance 07-03 on September 12, 2007 extending the existence of the enterprise zone to February 28, 2020. The present resolution spells out the parameters of the tax abatement. I know the City of Murphysboro recently adopted the exact resolution.

I further recommend the county board adopt the resolution before the end of this year. A certified copy of the adopted resolution should be sent to the enterprise zone administrator, Mr. Kevin Baity, Assistant City Manager, City of Carbondale, PO Box 2047, Carbondale, Illinois 62902-2047. Please let me know if you have any questions.
